INTRODUCTION

Zagreb is the Croatian capital, an important commercial crossroads in many ways completely different from the Croatian coast. The city developed as an important fair centre at the gate of the Croatian Panonian plain, the largest fertile area in central Europe. A wealthy noble class and their lush castles, scattered around the capital, thus emerged. Zagreb's architecture and traditions witness the Austrian rule from the 16th century when northern Croatia voluntarily submitted to the Habsburgs. The region is renowned in Europe for thermal waters which attracted the European elite in the winter period.

Zagreb abounds in lounge clubs, microbreweries, high-quality restaurants and museums including the Croatian Museum of Naive Art and several hotels at the cutting edge of technology for business trips and incentives. This green city is located at the foot of Sljeme hill. The region and its colourful traditions were inspirational for many naive artists. Above all, Zagreb is a city permanently animated by popular gastronomic and artistic events, shows, concerts and full of small places and surprises to discover! You will be enchanted by its family atmosphere.

By a well developed network of motorways we can organize tours to the famous Plitvice Lakes national park, the only natural monument listed by UNESCO in Croatia, visit to the Slovenian capital Ljubljana which is only 1.5 hours away, or Maribor, a jewel of Slovenian baroque architecture.
